BISSELL'S BIG BROW.

He Puts It Down on Political Contributions in Postoffices.

Postmaster General Bissell has addressed a circular letter to all Free Delivery Postoffices in the country relative to forced campaign contributions. He cites two sections of the Civil Service Law which provide that no Federal employee shall solicit or receive money for political purposes and that no officer shall discharge, promote, degrade or in any manner change the official rank or compensation of any other officer or employee, or promise or threaten so to do, for giving or withholding or neglecting to make any contribution of money or other valuable thing for any political purpose. General Bissell then adds:

"The foregoing provisions apply to your office, it being a Free Delivery Post-office, and must be strictly complied with. It must also be clearly understood that no clerk, carrier or other employee of your office shall be jeopardized in his position for a refusal to comply with a request for a political contribution. Upon receipt of this letter you will prepare a number of copies hereof and post same conspicuously in each division of your office."

The Postmaster General, speaking of this order, said that it was in compliance with the law, and he intended to have it enforced in all offices of the Department.

"The Postoffice Department," he said, "is a business, not a political institution. It has been my endeavor to conduct it on business principles so as to give the people the best possible mail facilities. We do not want the service crippled or interrupted for political advantage."

SLANE—McDONALD.

Ex-Magistrates Celebrate a Pink Wedding at Norwood.

THE LEDGER yesterday made brief mention of a wedding Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. McDonald, formerly of this city but now of Hopkins avenue, Norwood, when Miss Mayne Sharpe McDonald became Mrs. Frank Hughson Slane.

Mr. Slane is the youngest son of the late Jackson Slane and Hettie Cameron Slane. When these two were wed, "around them thronged her many friends and his glad tongues that gave him joy to be the bridegroom of so fair a bride."

Rev. C. C. Cox of Harmon Memorial Baptist Church of Norwood officiated at the ceremony, which he, as is usual with him, made quite impressive.

The bride, who wore a lovely gown of white cord silk en train, trimmed in pearl and point lace and diamond ornaments and a bunch of bridal roses, was preceded in the wedding march by the two little nieces of the groom, the Misses Helen and Esther Slane, aged 3 and 5 years, in becoming white silk gowns, trailing flowers, who, together with Master Vern, the four-year old son of Dr. T. V. Fitzpatrick, carrying the ring, added to the impressiveness of the ceremony.

It was a pink wedding, the decorations throughout being in roses and chrysanthemums of that color, which, together with ferns and smilax, was very effective, and gave the home a magnificent appearance.

An elaborate wedding supper was served in excellent style, the bridal table being handsomely decorated with pink roses and silver candelabra, when the guests of honor made most of the happy occasion.

After the reception the evening was spent in dancing.

The bride and groom were numerous, presenting a beautiful array of exquisite selections of articles for the home, the groom's present to the bride being a handsome pendant set in diamonds and pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. Slane preceded yesterday noon on the P. V. for a trip through the East, and on their return will be at home to their friends in a cosy flat in the El Rano Building on the Montgomery boulevard.

DEMOCRATIC PLEASANTRIES.
How Complimentary They Are to Republicans, to Be Sure.

Mr. Sterling Advocate, October 23d.

The Republicans, both white and kinky lads, are working with all their might and main, and have a list of Democrats as long as your arm whom they say will vote for their candidates, but mark this language:

"No Democrat will do it!"

Kirk is having the negroes to meet with him in his bid, and even then, what a stink! The strong odor of new tobacco won't counteract it when they get warmed up; but Kirk and his running mates are so eager after office they sweat and stink with them, and have the gall to ask Democrats to vote with their nasty crowd of chicken-thieves, craps-shooters and such like.

If the Republican leaders want office from the votes of respectable people, they must get into better company.

The dose is too much for white men.

THE BED LET DOWN.

That Is Why Colonel Breckinridge Threw Tip the Sponge.

A whole lot of people have known for a long time that Colonel Breckinridge's bed was not one of flowery ease, but not many knew his couch had been tumbling down on him at night.

The Owensboro Messenger, in stating why the Colonel cancelled his engagements in the mountain counties, says: "Colonel Breckinridge threw up his appointments to speak in a number of counties in the mountain district, and returned home Wednesday. He spoke Monday at Jackson, and started across the mountains to Salversville the next day. Night overtook him on Quakerland, and he and his wife, who started out to accompany him on his tour, put up with a farmer. That night the bed fell down. The Colonel got up next morning and ordered his horses' heads turned toward Jackson. It was the Colonel's expressed opinion that if the people of the mountains were too lazy to have beds strong enough to sustain him and his wife after a hard day's journey, he would return home and let Beck and Kendall do their own fighting."

Correction of Some Statements Contained in the Narrative.

MAYSVILLE, KY., October 25th.

Editor Ledger: Right is right and wrong is wrong.

Having seen in THE LEDGER of the 24th an article in regard to a suit in the city of Louisville between Miss Lou Bullock and an ex-Mayor of Middlesborough, the writer desires to contradict some things in it that he knows are false.

In the first place, she never had a suit for a breach of contract with any man. She had a little love scrape with one Dr. H. Savage of Germantown, who is not a preacher. He is of a good family and talented, but had one fault. At least he father objected to her keeping his company on that account, and if she had regarded his admonition she would never have been robbed of her check and $45 in money and her happiness. I told her he was an infidel and Elk and had a bad countenance, but children cannot always see as older people do. As to her mind, the writer thinks he can say that while she has been remarkably bright and talented and a great favorite and pet, she is a monomaniac on fame and style, and had rather die than be excelled.

Her brother sent her home and would not let her appear in Court. She got her voucher, but is minus her $45. She will probably be able to get along without that.

The ex-Mayor is anxious to know where he will next be arrested. The writer doesn't know, but he thinks he knows where he ought to be. There is a place called in the Scriptures Hell, the prison-house of God for infidels and damned spirits for all eternity. FAVNER.

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1891 William L. Wilson was dined and vined in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

The Maine Democrats have taken to the woods. There is a rumor that they are lost, for the Maine woods are large and the Maine Democrats are few.

The Wilson Bill raised the duty on sugar, but lowered it 62 per cent. on playing cards, 50 per cent. on opium prepared for smoking and 56 per cent. on pistols.

Democratic organs are claiming that free wool brought in from foreign countries increases the price of American grown wool and decreases the price of goods made of wool. Do you ever hear of such a fool set of idiots? Ask the Portsmouth Blade. Why, such an argument as this is enough to make a toad sick at the stomach. Yet it goes for good logic with the organized ignorance of the country.

The elimination of sugar bounties saves to the American people nearly $15,000,000 annually.—Senator Hill.
Why not have stated the whole case, asks The American Economist, and added that the imposition of an ad valorem tax on raw sugar added $50,000,000 to the "burden of taxation" of the American people, making a net loss to the people of $35,000,000, besides injuring the producers of domestic sugar? Would such an admission have injured the client's case?

The Editor of THE PUBLIC LEDGER seems inclined to doubt the statement of The Bulletin that at the Democratic meeting at Dietrich's Grove the other night "crowds stood up for three hours and a ringing began about 7:30 and closed at 5:15, half listening to the speeches." The speaker of 11 o'clock. A gentleman who is a member of the G. A. R. and who has been a good Republican, but who will vote the Democratic ticket November 6th, was present and can vouch for this.—Bulletin.

The above ought to "have a fence put around it" and be kept standing at the head of column. It's the most sensible thing the Editor of The Bulletin has gotten off during the campaign. It bears the stamp of truth in every line, and it was altogether superfluous to call in a Grand Army man to prove it. More than this, there is no "inadvertence" about it; it's plain, unvarnished fact, and expresses The Bulletin Editor's sentiments to a dot. The only thing that surprises us is that the Editor was honest enough to dump his brain-pan all at once.

CHESTNUTS are now selling at $1.50 per bushel, and the country man who gathers them at that price earns the money. Many who have brought them to market take them back home rather than sell at this rate.—Ashland News.

This talk of low prices under Democratic Free-trade is of itself getting to be quite chestnut.

THE Frontonian asks if the workmen of Ironton want to go back again to the McKinley Law. Well, from the way they rolled up that 80,000 majority for McKinley for Governor, it looks very much like all the workmen of Ohio would like to get under that umbrella once more.

MIKE—"DINIS, I do be afther hearin' that th' Dimercat Congress an' Presidint 'ave put timber an' to free list. Phwat did they do that for?"

DINIS—"Begob of don't know, unless it be that they cudn't get enough variety at home to make th' different planks in their platform-runs."

JOHN WHEELER has received a consignment of Canadian apples. The McKinley Law taxed them 25 cents a bushel to keep them out of the American market. The new Democratic Tariff puts them on the free list, and here they are in Mayville to displace American grown apples. Though if a Mason county farmer should ship apples to Canada the Canadian Customs officers would charge him a duty of 40 cents a barrel.—Public Ledger.

What about us people who want to buy apples cheap, Brother DAVIS?—Carle Mercery.

As The Mercury is a most respectable Democratic paper it answers THE LEDGER great pleasure to affirm its question, which is best done by saying that Mr. WHEELER sold his Canadian apples at exactly the same price that he sold American-grown apples out of a barrel that stood alongside the Canadian article. That's all there is about it, neighbor.

The lumbermen of Canada are busy people. Some 6,000,000 logs have been rafted into Collingwood for the purpose of being cut up in the mills there. This work will provide employment until fall, when another supply of logs will be on hand, and all this lumber would have been cut at Saginaw or Bay City had Protection remained to American lumber interests. Collingwood is one of the border towns of the Canadian lumber industry, and there are many other larger towns where a greater amount of lumber is cut and sawed. Free lumber will be of great advantage to Canada, as also will be the lower duties on barley, live stock, meats and vegetables, besides others that are placed upon the free list. American Democratic Free-trade Tariff tinkering is a great thing for the farmers of Ontario.

IT IS NO MORE.

The "Quadruple Alliance" Dies a Natural Death.

Its Object Was the Settlement of the China-Japan Dispute.

The refusal of the United States to join the Alliance between China and Japan will probably be permitted to fight out their war.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The "quadruple alliance between England, France, Germany and Russia, which had for its object the settlement of the dispute between China and Japan, is no more. News of its demise reached the diplomatic world here Thursday. The contemplated intervention is therefore definitely postponed.

The refusal of this country to join the alliance has been the principal reason of the smash. When the news that the United States had declined the invitation had been transmitted through the British embassy here to London and thence to Russia, France and Germany, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain promptly cabled the information to St. Petersburg. He shortly afterward received an intimation that the czar was not particularly anxious for the prosecution of the proposed intervention anyway.

A little later word came from Germany that that country would not participate in the convention, and therefore withdrew from the alliance. The reason was not given, but there is excellent authority for saying that the withdrawal was due to the refusal of the other members of the compact to agree what they would have for their reward, as large a slice of Chinese territory as she demanded.

This action on the part of Germany was followed by the formal withdrawal of Russia. The true reason for Russia's backing out is her belief that she will get about what she wants anyway, and that, too, without Great Britain aggrandizing herself in the Orient, as would result from a quadruple intervention, though Russia would have remained in the alliance had this country joined it. France has not withdrawn so far as is known here. Probably she thinks that in view of the action of Germany and Russia there is nothing to be drawn from. Another alliance may of course be made. Pretty much any action may take place in the European diplomatic world in the shape of a land-grabbing expedition.

So far as the present situation is concerned, however, China and Japan will have to fight it out between themselves.

REIMPORTED WHISKY.

The Secretary Makes a Decision of Importance to Distillers.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Secretary Carlisle has made an interesting decision with reference to reimported domestic spirits deposited in a bonded warehouse. The Louisville Distillery Co. asked, in view of the fact that certain of these spirits (about to be sold for customs duties) are held to subject to a duty equal to the internal revenue laws. The secretary has decided that such taxes imposed on distilled spirits by the tariff act of August 28, 1894, that the full bonded period provided by that act be also held to extend to such reimported spirits.

In reply the secretary has informed the distillery company that the extended bonded period by the express terms of the law applies only to spirits deposited "in a distillery warehouse, or other bonded warehouses established under the internal revenue laws." If the act applied to reimported domestic spirits in customs bonded warehouses, the spirits as to which the bonded period has expired prior to its date would be excluded from the provisions made for the re-entry of spirits for the additional bonded period.

The secretary further says that as more than four years have elapsed since the original entry of these spirits, and in fact more than five years as to part of them, there is no authority for a further extension, even if they were on deposit in a distillery warehouse instead of a customs warehouse.

Goldstein's Burglar Proof Safe.
UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Bernard Goldstein, a South street Jeweler, was afraid of burglars, and had electrical connection by which the current might be applied to his safe. In front of the safe was a fine plate, and if any one stood upon it when the current was on a short circuit was formed. Thursday evening two boys were in the store. On a wager, Stewart England, aged 16, touched the safe. Goldstein did not warn him away. The boy just placed his hand on the safe, and dropped dead without a groan. There is no doubt, excitement, and many threats are made against Goldstein. He has not been arrested.

ROSEBERY.

The Premier Makes an Important Speech in Sheffield.

The Czar of Russia the Preserver of the Peace of Europe.

Great Britain Will Not Interfere in the War Between Japan and China—There is no Contention Between England and France About Madagascar.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Lord Rosebery made an important speech in Sheffield Thursday evening.

Everybody, he said, acquainted with the history of Russia the last twelve years must feel an immense debt of obligation to the czar, the watchword of whose reign was worship of peace. The czar would enjoy in history a reputation as a victor in peace not less undisputed than the reputation Caesar and Napoleon enjoyed as conquerors. The premier extolled the czar's absolutely conscientious devotion to truth in diplomatic as well as in private matters. Great Britain, he said, had the greatest possible interest in the continuation of the czar's life and health, because, if he should be removed, the greatest guarantee of peace of the world would disappear.

Referring to the recent meeting of the British cabinet, the premier said that none of the alleged intrigues surrounding the cabinet on that occasion were correct. The question of intervention between Japan and China was not discussed in any form, had been issued to the powers and no rebuff had been suffered from them. He would, he continued, state in general the government's policy in regard to China and Japan. It was impossible to regard with indifference a possible sudden destruction of the central government of China, which would already none too strong. Its destruction would involve appalling danger to every Christian in the Chinese empire, and an ever increasing and barbarous elements into every adjoining portion of the world, implying the greatest possible catastrophe to Asiatic civilization. [Applause.]

After the first Japanese victory the British government had learned from a very high and an infallible source that China was willing to concede honorable terms, materially exceeding Japan's demands when the war was entered upon, and such a Japan could certainly accept without lessening her prestige or advantage. Her ministry could not absolutely pocket the money, and did not intend to do so upon the overtures but continued upon their duty to sound the countries of Europe and the United States to ascertain whether, in their opinions, there was any possibility of China and Japan coming to terms on the basis indicated. The reception of Great Britain's overtures was favorable. The European powers seemed to feel that a common calamity overhung them, but one which they judged that the time had arrived when conditions could, with advantage, be submitted to the combatants.

It might be asked why he had consulted the powers at all—why he had not acted alone. He would reply that a great catastrophe of this kind would move powers were engaged in the efforts toward peace, so much the better was the prospect of their attaining their object. He said, however, that whenever it was possible, every British foreign minister should obtain a concert of the powers in important international affairs, and in such a case as the present the foreign minister would have been culpable if he had not sought a concert of the powers. Moreover, in the Japanese condition of affairs the war has produced, it would have been impossible for Great Britain to attempt to conduct the war as a holder without incurring the suspicion of the other powers and all interested in the east.

Referring to Madagascar, Lord Rosebery said he doubted whether the name had ever been mentioned between France and Great Britain. He hoped this would dispel all idea of contention between France and Great Britain in regard to Madagascar. France had undoubtedly trod rights in and a protectorate over Madagascar. As long as France did not exert her rights, which there was no reason to suppose she would do, he would only abide by the treaty which she herself had signed.

JAPS WIN A BATTLE.

Only a Little One, But Goes—Not a Single Jap Fatally Wounded.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch to the Central News from Wu Jui says Count Yamagata, commander-in-chief of the Japanese forces in Korea, has reported to the government that the Japanese detachment of 1,000 Japanese infantry crossed the Yalu river on the morning of October 24 at Suichin, above Wu Jui. Shortly after crossing the river the troops met a body of Chinese, composed of six hundred cavalry and one hundred infantry, and two cannon. The Japanese at once made an attack upon the enemy and the latter fled, leaving behind the two guns and a large number of arms and accoutrements. The Japanese lost twenty killed or wounded, but there was not a single fatality among the Japanese. The latter also seized a fort near the mouth of the Yalu. A detachment of the Japanese forces is advancing upon Laishien, and the main body is crossing the Yalu river.

SOVEREIGN'S SAYINGS.

The K. of L. Master Workmen Again Talk of Workmen Inaugurating a Revolution.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 26.—A meeting of laboring men held here Thursday evening General Master Workmen Sovereign, of the Knights of Labor, made dismal predictions as to the future of the country, and strongly intimated that workmen would yet be compelled to resort to force to secure their rights.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the United American Railway union. The principal speaker was L. W. Rogers, of Chicago, editor of the Railway Times, whose remarks contained nothing unusual.

Sovereign said, in part: "I tell you that I believe every word I say when I tell you that the government of this country can get control of the government from the president to the last congressman in 1896 the plotters will get up a government and grind us into the ground. They will make this a monarchy, or something equally as bad, and the little liberty we still have will be taken away from us."

"We must abandon our old ideas of strikes and go to the ballot box. I have been upon this line for some time, and I have the honor to be an executive officer of one of the leading labor organizations of the country, and I tell you as I am at the head of it I will march it to victory or I will march it to death. Better death in this way than not to march at all."

FREE PRESBYTERIANS.

A Pennsylvania Minister Who Is Breaking Up Families.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 26.—The preaching of Rev. Dr. W. J. McCrory, pastor of the Free Presbyterian church, of Rochester, Pa., has created a sensation throughout the Beaver valley. His recent discourses, urging the practical application of the biblical laws concerning unlawful marriages, has caused trouble in several homes, and may lead to divorce proceedings.

Based on statements on a portion of the sixth chapter of the Second Epistle to the Corinthians, which reads: "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers; for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness and what communion hath light with darkness?"

Following this line of reasoning, he argued that where a Christian and ungodly one were so yoked together a great sin was committed, and was repeated with every exercise of the prerogative of the bond.

McCrory has been exceedingly all through the valley at the junction of the Beaver and Ohio, and has believers in his doctrine of sanctification in the midst of the tight lights in the territory mentioned.

STILL LIVES.

Last Words to His People From the Russian Monarch.

A Pathetic Scene in the Royal Sick Chamber at Livadia.

Ex-Empress Frederick, of Germany, Affected About the Czar's Illness—Prof. Zacharin Severely Blamed for His Mistaken Diagnosis.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The news from Livadia Thursday morning is very conflicting, each fresh telegram contradicting the preceding one, with the result that no one can make out what is the actual condition of the czar.

A dispatch from Frankfurt says that the ex-empress Frederick of Germany is particularly affected about the czar's illness as it does the comparatively recent death of her husband. It is added that she and the emperor, her son, have written letters of sympathy to the czar.

St. Petersburg dispatches, Thursday morning, say there is a general feeling of indignation against Prof. Zacharin, whose mistaken diagnosis in the first place, it is claimed, was rendered injurious to the patient by the professor's negligence and lack of medical skill. Prof. Zacharin has been severely blamed, according to these advices, by Prof. Leyden, and it is asserted, that should the czar die, it will be because proper treatment was not undertaken in time.

The dispatches referred to add that since the czar's illness he has been subject to continual trembling and syncope. It is also stated that Wednesday night the czar had a sensation between drowsiness and comparative cheerfulness. During one of the latter periods the czar is said to have been left alone with the czarowitz for an hour, and it is understood that during this interview the emperor dictated a loving message of farewell to Russia, which message will be issued upon his death. This message is said to be of a purely personal nature, and to have no bearing upon politics.

The czar is reported to be much gratified at the expressions of sympathy upon the part of the Russian people. He said that he fully realizes the gravity of his position.

BELIN, Oct. 26.—The Russian embassy here has received dispatches from Livadia dated Thursday morning, saying that a slight improvement has taken place in the czar's condition.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Yalta says that symbols of joy and sorrow jostle each other everywhere in the neighborhood. State carriages and regiments of troops for the imperial marriage arrived at the same time as the mourning coaches and liveries of woe which will be required in the event of the czar's death.

NOTED CRANK.

Calls on the President and Demands Assistance to His Brother.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A crank, and one of note, called Thursday morning on Dr. Joseph Bryant, 54 West Thirty-sixth street, where President Cleveland is stopping, and demanded to see the president.

The man's name is Richard Goedeler, of 414 West Fifty-seventh street. Goedeler is the same crank who, some years ago, wrote to Emperor William, of Germany, challenging him to a duel. Goedeler went up to Dr. Bryant's house about 9 o'clock.

He rang the doorbell violently, and when the butler responded demanded to see the president. The butler told him quietly but firmly that the president could not be seen. Goedeler was finally argued into going away. The president Cleveland is not surrounded by a throng of private detectives as shown by the episode of the morning. None of the household attendants at the time of Crank Goedeler's arrival. Mr. Goedeler could not be seen after the time he left Dr. Bryant's house.

Liable to Be Lynched.

WATKINS, Ga., Oct. 26.—A Negro, supposed to be Ephraim Meeker, the assassin of I. J. Brown, a prominent citizen living near here, is under arrest. If identified as Meeker, he will not escape lynching. Threats are made by Brown's friends to take the man alive, after ridding his body with bullets. This was untrue, as the lynched Negro was Meeker's accomplice in the murder.

War Riles Found.

MIDLEBORO, Ky., Oct. 26.—A stranger, who stopped with J. Cottrell, at Cumberland Gap, told him that in 1863, he and others buried a case of guns near their order of the day. He claimed that John H. Morgan, Wednesday, Mr. Cottrell dug down seven feet at the spot pointed out, and found them. There are twenty-five Remingtons, and a few other guns. The man states there are other Morgan relics buried near.

WHO VOS IT?

Are There Any Leaps and Googens in Maysville?

Here is one of the latest typewriter stories.

There are clothing dealers who have felt just as Levy did, but have we trust, avoided the somewhat ambiguous method of expressing his indignation.

Jacob Levy sold Googenhelmer & Co. five barrels of whisky on thirty days time. The thirty days rolled around and the cash did not materialize. After writing a polite request for a remittance and receiving no response Levy lost his head and his temper and said to his type writer:

"Shoot write Googenhelmer & Co. von toulful of a letter and gift it to 'em hot."

The letter was written and submitted for signature. Levy read it, flew into a passion, tore it into shreds and said:

"Gott in himmel! You call dot von hot letter? I show you! Shoot put down vat I gives you; I show dem tam viskey dealers vot I think of 'em. This was the letter:

Googenhelmer & Co., Tamarac, Ark.: Who vos it bought five parrels of viskey on dirty days?

Who vos it never pay for dot viskey?

Who vos it vos a tam liar?

Who vos it vos a tam tief?

Who vil go to der jail?

JACOB LEVY.

A decision has been rendered by Judge Field at Louisville which will furnish a precedent for the Kentucky Courts in actions for damages against the Pullman Palace Car Company, in conjunction with the roads on which Pullman cars are used. In substance the Court held that the Pullman Company were not common carriers, and were not, therefore, responsible for any injuries that might be sustained in a wreck by passengers on their cars.

THE MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN WEEKLY PUBLIC LEDGER.

Did U?

Did you ever think that relatives or friends who have moved to distant places—gone West, perhaps, to grow up with the country—are always glad to hear from their "Old Kentucky Home"? And did it ever occur to you that a single copy of THE MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN—the weekly edition of The Public Ledger—contains more home news than you could embrace in a hundred ordinary letters? And did it ever strike you that you can send the paper to your relatives and friends for a whole year at less cost than you can write a letter every week? Besides, don't you think a year's subscription to THE MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN would be present highly appreciated by those at a distance? Suppose you try it and hear what they have to say on the subject.
